Per Bot. ers stake, play or bot. It seems to us that this clause entirely excludes private games of the kind mentioned by His Excellency. 1.10 The great difference between a private game and public gambling lies in this, that in the one case, if there are money stakes, the chances are equal to all, the play being for amusement, whereas in the other case the game is conducted by a person who charges a commission and who is bound by the law of probabilities to earn money, who 7.50 0.75 in fact carries on the business for the purpose of making money. Under the existing law, a gambling house may be conducted under the guise of a Club with unlimited membership; and as long as the general public are not admitted, gambling 1.10 of the worst kind may be carried on to an unlimited extent. There may be flaws in the new definition, and we hope it will be closely scrutinised, but it seems to us to include the essential characteristics of public gambling or gambling for profit, the gambling which it is the duty of the Government to endeavour to suppress. The grammatical construction of the definition is certainly susceptible of considerable improvement. Any game of chance or any mixed game of chance and skill in which any game is played the chances of which are &c. may have a meaning, but it is not English. We discussed at some length the various sections of the new Bill whon it first appeared, and there is no need to go over the same ground again. The most defective clause is, we think, clause 3, which seems to afford an opportunity for driving the proverbial coach and four through the whole ordinance. The clause sets forth 8 0.75 that a place shall be deemed to be opened, kept or used as a common gaming house or 8 0.75 for the purpose of a lottery when gambling is one of the main and principal objects for which the place is open. Now, suppose a 10 1.00 police officer enters a Chinese club and finds gambling going on, and suppose the keeper alleges that the game is merely an incidental affair, that a few friends had come to see him, that the game was started solely for their amusement, and that such 10 1.00 a thing did not occur more than once a month in his club, how is the officer to disprove the statements and how is he to on and after Saturday, 7th inst., and until show that gambling is one of the main and further notice, the water will be shut off principal objects for which the place is from the whole city between the hours of opened? The clause is, we believe, a 10 s.m. and 6 p.m., and between the hours 4.50 0.40 mistaken application of a decison given by of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. Mr Justice Hawkins in a well-known 5.25 0.50 English case. It is totally unnecessary and Ir is notified in Saturday's Gazette that we hope it will be struck out. There are consequent on the departure of the Hon.

Ir is understood that Mr Goschen's proposal. to authorise the issue of £1 notes will meet with no opposition on the ground of principle from the Gladatonian leaders. It is stated that Sir William Harcourt was soriously considering the advisability of introducing a similar scheme when he was Chancellor of the Exchanger in 1880, and that had the L beral Government remained in office he would have brought the matter before the House.

THE United Service Gozette says :- A topic of much conversation in maval circles has been the order issued by the Admiralty requesting all British officers, serving in the Chinese Navy under the regulations by which they are permitted to do so while retaining rank in our own Service, to resign at the earliest opportunity, and to return to England to take up their commissions here. Their lordships assign no reason for taking this stop, but it is not doubted that it is the outcome of the extraordinary conduct of the Chinese Government towards Admiral Ling. The authorities could hard- | fical, ly be expected to calmly submit to such an unwarrantable procedure, or to risk a repetition of such an insult to the Service.

Much interest attaches to the case of Mr. Hearson, on his way home under arrest for having left Her Majesty's Service to join the Chinese Navy without awaiting the round opened with very cautious sparring accentance of his resignation by the Admiraty. The feeling is, says a naval contemporary, that he was justified in expecting that the resignation would be granted as a matter of course. An extraordinary report is current, that his formal-resignation went astray in the Chief Engineer's Office at the Admiralty. Should this be so, it would, indeed, be hard that he should in any way suffer. Mr Hearson is by many thought to be ill-advised if, as is reported, he intends to appeal to the Court of Queen's Bench to decide whether the Admiralty could refuse to accept his resignation. The position would be a corious one were the Court to uphold that it was within its a left hander on Robinson's ear. Ix Deli and the neighbouring districts, of late many Chinese coolies have entered into onesgements for service in North Borneo. They go to their destination by way of Siggapore, aud when the steamer from Deli with labour freight on board reaches that port, another steamer comes alongside to take over the passengers for This causes a tremendous stir, as the cooles often raise objections to transhipment, and find it preferable to spand a little time at Singapore. Some say they will not go to Borneo, others stand out that they have not contracted to labour there. In the end gentle force has to be used to get them aboard the steamer waiting for the fellows and blows are sumetimes freely resorted to in bringing the coolies to Occasionally lighting ensues with the result that, in one instance, the master and the first engineer of a steamer were wounded. To prevent such scenes it has now been determined that labour consignments to Borney from Deli shall not exceed fifty coolies each, and that each batch must be accompanied by a European. The Deli Courant deems this pressution inadequate. It points out that European passengers rup into much danger in these rows on board ship, and that, in the confusion. Uninese coolies who had not contracted for work in Borneo might be embarked for that country. That journal advises Borneo planters to import their coolies from Deli in direct. steamers, as the best way to prevent these troubles.

VICTORIA RECREATION CLUB BOXING AND FENCING COMPETITIONS.

Quite a large crowd assembled at the Gymnasiam of the Victoria Recreation Club yesterday evening to see the preliminary heats in the competitions in boxing and ferging the finals of which form part of the entertainment to be given at the Theatre Royal this evening. The somewhat lengthy programme of events was followed with much interest. Mr C. B. Thompson, Lieut. Grant and Staff-Sorgennt Tennant were judges of the boxing, and the foncing was judged by Liout. Col. Jerrard and Captain Henderson, Mr James Sampson was timekeeper.

Chandler's advantage in weight was more than outweighed by Robinson's superiority in reach and quickness. The opening, round consisted chiefly of light sparring and there was a fair give and take the start. Towards the end of the round Robinson, having apparently made estimate of his opponent's defensive powers, became more aggressive and succeeded in putting in a series of smartly delivered and well placed face Chandler managing to get in several effective blows in the meanwhile. In the second round Chandler opened the ball by getting in a couple of good lar :body blows. After this there was a warm interchange of blows, in which Robinson's quickness and his excellent defence gave him the advantage. Before the round closed both men were in want of a reat, the work having been pretty warm. They came up quite fresh, however, for the final round. Chandler again opened out with an effective body blow, to which Robinson responded with a couple of blows on the neck and face. From this point Robinson had decidedly the advantage, and he was declared the winner of the Richardson stood on the defensive till after another body blow his opponent when he responded with tempt to repeat this was cleverly stop ped. There was some very smart play on both sides at the beginning of the third round, with a good deal of give and take. A little quiet sparring followed, Richardson showing a decided disinclination to take any further punishment. Robinson made a rush before which his opponent retreated and took a heavy body blow followed by dition one on the jaw. In response Richardson put in an effective face blow just as time was called. HONGKONG PUBLIC SCHOOL IN MEMORIAN.

We have received the following circu

It is with sincers regret that the Committee of the Hongkong Public School are compelled to announce to Subscribers and Parents of pupils that the School must be closed on the 30th of June next. The following Statement, giving the rea

A second Master was at the same time engaged from England, partly because of the retirement of Mrs and Miss Bateman and partly in the hope that by this step the School would attract more pupils. The total am uni for which the Committee thus became remandible was $4,800 for yearly maries and house allowances alone. Unhappily, instead of an increase of pupils, the number sciually decrease!. This was altributed by Mr Bateman at the beginning of last year (1894) to the opening of Victoria College with its attractive quarters and large stiff of Teachers, and the raising of the efficiency of other schools in the Colony. All these schools charge smaller fees than the Pub ic School could afford to ask. If an increase was to come to the Public School it mus come from the class with whom small fees are an important consideration. In 1889. therefore, while the income both from fees and denations was smaller than in 1888. the expenditure was so large that the Treasurer was compelled to draw $2,000 from the Endowment Fund to meet it.

Last year (1890) was the only year since the opening of the School when no Fub. scription List was sent round the Community. In the previous year (1889) the Subscriptions only amounted to $932, and evon this sum was collected with great difficulty. In 1890, had the list been sent round, subscriptions to the amount of $1,100 or even $1,500-a very unlikely figure to reach—could only have delayed he closing of the School by a few months It did not seem honest to ask for Subscrip tions from the Public for an Institution which was evidently in a moribund con-

The hope of the Committee has a ways been that the School ultimately become self-supporting. It was for this purpose that an Endowment Fund was started and from time to time added to. It was hoped that by the help of the Government and private friends the School might have been established in a House of its own with an efficient staff. Appeals to this end were made for about ten yours. At last in 1889 Mr Belilios most generous. NESE NEW YEAR HOLIDAYS

It is altogether probable that to the great m joilty of foreigners living in China, the Chinese New Year, with its inevitable concomitants, is felt to be a misance, which we would gladly abyte if that were a poss bility. We like to do things at fixed times. and to have those fixed times related to other fixed times. But to us, the lange year seems a kind of modified chaos. one can ever foreson when the Chinese Now Year is going to fall until he ha scrutinised the calendar for that year. never know when an intercality month will be thrust in to upset all ordinary calcula-

We dislike the preparation for the Chiness New Year, we dislike the occasion itself, and we dislike the woulde, because of the noise, the idle visitors, the wearhome and to us unbearing ceremony. Before we can fairly judge of this hediday, however, we must tike account of what it is and why it is. Stolid as -to i casual observer -- the Chinese seem they are a highly sentimental people. Their New Year occupies in their mind's position which in Western lands there is nothing at all analogous. It is the focal point the year, from which everything begins toward which everything tends, in a soul not at all true in the West. It is the national birthday, and not to be able celebrate it is more than a misfortuneis almost a disgrace. The thelfth and the first moons are different from any other period of the Chinese year. They are the only months which are not called by their ordinal numbers, and they differ as much from each other, as from the months which they precede and follow. The Chinese have always been noted as an industrious race, but during the last month of the year their is Justry assumes an entirely no abane. Schools suspend their sessions a some period during the month, and the terms of service of those who hire out by the year come to an end some weeks before the close of the yest. The large fairs if held in the 12th moon, are never so frequented as at that time, and the village markets are as crowded as the large fairs by a throng of people who do not disperse until long after dark, a very unusual phenomenon. A casual glance at the Chinese auvwhere toward the close of the twelfth moon, suggests a stream of ants under stone. They are all engaged in one three mutually correlated occupationsstruggling to find those who owe then money, in order to compel payment ? engaged in syading or holding at bay those to whom they themselves one money, or else laying in articles with which to spend New Year. While at first sight there is in this a superficial similarity to the preparation made in Western lands for Christmas, the resemblance is superficial only. The Chinese are buying food, fuel, clothing, ornaments, toys, fireworks and pictures, but but individual is purchasing for himself or for his own family, and netto give away. There is nothing in China which remotely resembles our practice of Christmas gifts albeit presents of fruit are nominally exchanged on the 15th of the 8th moon Judging by the tromendous conditness with which the preparations for spending t New Year are carried on, one would suppose that a snowstorm at less ten feet depth was certainly foreknown, rendering all communication impossible. And if such a fall of snow were actually to take place the result could scarcely be a more complete interruption of business, that that cause by the poiseless transition from the 3 of the last moon to the first day of the new year. Those who have not mad the requisite provision at the prot me, are has helpless at those Israeli in the desert who failed to gather Subbath's manna on the previous day fact far more helpless, for the Jewish 8 bath lasted but four-and-twesty hours, while the Chinese markets are supended with more or less completeness for at least hal a month. The necessity for buying so much in advance, at the very time when all the year's accumulated debts must be to a severe strain upon the manurces of rdinery Chinese households, and a fate borden upon all the poorer people, wh contrive to scrape through this terrible period by shifts of which we have very little comprehension. Work at the Riub Australian Syndicate's property in Pating is progressing sat efactority. Mr Bibby, the mining manager, during an interview with a Straits Times re orter, said that the main portion of the labour is at present directed to driving a tunnel from the lattery to the Westorn lode so as to let them run the stuff straight from the workings to the battery and thus avoid a second handling. Some delay has been occasioned through the Ch nese New Year holidays, but, notwithstanding this, the tunnel is expected to be finished about a week from now, Since the last crushing the stamps have been lying idle, and the portion of the labour which is not engaged on the tunnel, is at work raising stone from the Ranb hole. Already there are between 60 and 70 tons of quarts lying on the surface ready for treatment, so that when the tunnel is comploted the stamps may at once begin to operate with a likelihood of there being a plentiful supply of stuff, as both lodes would then be in working order. In minks ing an air shaft from the surface to the tunuel in the Western lude, a fine specimen of stone was struck

For sometime past the men have been opening new ground in the vicinity of the Ranh hole, in which, down to a depth of 150 ft., they did not come across any stuff particularly worth mentioning; but just buyond this they struck some very good leaders, which, practically in a new counry, shews very well. In the Ranb hole they have been getting a lot of water lately, but the pumping machinery has been able (and always will be able; providing there is not a flood) to cope with the water. Two exploring parties are at work in Bukit Malacca and Bukit Jelet getting fairly good prospects. Mr Bibby will return to the mine some time during this week.
